What is PSiTouch™

Originally clubs introduced PSI (Player Score Input) to take away the irksome task presented to handicap committees of entering competition cards. Over the past 20 years PSI has developed into a much broader player interface which allows golfers to forward book, sign-in and enter scores into competitions. Other features include viewing handicaps, requesting handicap certificates, paying competition fees and even the ability to view pictures of their playing partners.

What can it do for your club?

Whether your club is installing PSI for the first time or upgrading an existing system to touch screen, the benefits are numerous.

Installing terminals in the lounge and/or bar will encourage the 'car park golfer' in to the clubhouse enhancing the social atmosphere and bringing in much appreciated revenue to the bar and catering facility.

Multiple PSI systems can be operated on the same network, allowing competition registration in one area of the club (e.g. professional shop) and score entry and leader-board in another. Men's and Ladies sections can either share equipment or keep their administration separate on individual terminals.

As well as qualifying competitions, PSiTouch™ can also cater for team and individual non-qualifying events. Players can 'build' these teams through the terminals and then enter their scores on a single card. Additional printers can be added to enable labels to be produced for clearer identification.

Automatic leader-boards can be displayed together with customised notice-boards, keeping members up to date on both scores and important club information. Why not advertise forthcoming events or club notices.

Outside of competition time, terminals can be utilised as member information screens. Golfers can check their latest handicap, competition tee times and even bar and/or restaurant card balance if using MerlinTouch tills.

Live competition booking can be accessed using PSiTouch™ in the club house as well as on HowDidiDo® in the comfort of a member's home.
